Praise for the Human Gathering

“My advice is to just throw yourself into the community. There are so many amazing people. I have met and made real friends with other members. I feel like we’ve really enjoyed our time together.”

President & Founder,
North American Leadership Company

My experience in The Human Gathering has been remarkable. It is exactly what I needed in my life. I’ve met so many people who I normally would never meet. And I have been able to just be myself. If you give a little bit, you get a lot more back. I never would have imagined that replying to a seemingly random email would have led to all of the experiences I have had inside of The Human Gathering community. And I guess that’s the beauty of it.

Vice President,
Fortune 500 CPG Company

I think, for me, The Human Gathering is a very eclectic mix of people with certain things in common. The people I’ve met all have a good heart. They will give you their time and share their life experiences with you. And I guess it all comes back to helping to better yourself, as well as putting good out there into the world. For me, it’s all about connecting with my fellow, incredible members!

President & Co-founder,
Top 100 most influential business in the UK

I get around 50 to 100 random emails a day. Not only do I not respond to most of those emails; but, I block most of them. I never imagined that answering the email from The Human Gathering would have led to meeting so many people that I’m now friends with and to the experiences I’ve been able to have. My life is fuller, as a result of being a member in The Human Gathering community.
